SUBSTANDARD CABINS only are involved in the recent action of the City Council that allows Harold Strickland, owner of the Campbell Trailer Court, 117 Gilman, two years to remove the 17 structures on the property.

The council ruling in no way affected the trailer spaces in the court.

Harold thought that the news story in last week's paper reporting that the trailer court would disappear in two years was misleading because it implied that the trailer spaces were also involved which, of course, is not the case.

Obviously the Campbell Trailer Court will not "disappear" as the head to the story indicated, if the trailer spaces are still going to be used.

AND THEY CAN BE, for the spaces are not substandard, only the cabins.

Harold's point is well taken. It should have been more clearly defined that the ruling had nothing to do with the trailer spaces.

We are sympathetic with Harold and his economic problems, for he will lose considerable monthly income when the cabins "disappear".

But we hope Harold doesn't mind, if we wistfully hope that he will eventually find another use for the property other than a trailer court.

But again we are forced to agree with Strickland, that there is a definite need for that type of housing some place.

Sometimes you just can't win for losing.

JOHN FABER, of Campbell Memorial Chapel, who will be MC at the C. of C. installation dinner-dance on Jan. 27, must have been practicing for the occasion the other day when he came by our table at Luoto's.

With Milt Hoyer, the Press ad beagle, we were hosting BILL SPAN and DON STANSFIELD, involved in the change in command at the Safeway store in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center.

Bill, who has been Safeway manager since the store opened in 1963 has been promoted to the Safeway Carmel operation and Don has been promoted to Campbell from Felton.

Anyway John, who has headed the Downtown Redevelopment Committee which has recommended "Proposition No. 2" for the improvement of Campbell Ave. which has also been approved by the City Council, stopped by our table and quoted an excerpt from a well-known poem which we thought was apropos to the future planning of the city.

John then asked us to give the name of the poem and the author, sort of a one-man quiz program.

The guys at our table apparently expected us

City gets report on finances

All interested citizens are urged to attend a special informal session called by the City Council this evening (Wed.) at 7:30 p.m. when the comprehensive financial feasibility study of the city that has just been completed will be discussed and explained.

Entitled "Financing Capital Improvements Programs for the City of Campbell", the 24-page booklet was prepared by Schwabacher & Co., of San Francisco under the direction of John Vande Pol, and Gerald A. Hutch of the firm's municipal financial advisory service.

Vande Pol will be present this evening to explain the report.

The report contains a review and summary of Campbell's recent financing history and current status and how this relates to the city's financing capacity via various tests including its legal limits and practical tax-rate considerations.

The basic purpose of the report was to aid the city in defining its proposed six-year capital improvement program that is expected to get off the ground this year.

Housing may rise again

What Campbell's attitude should be regarding the County Housing Authority now that the supervisors have given the nod to such a program could involve the City Council in a lengthy discussion next Monday night.

At a jam-packed supervisors meeting on Monday attended by hundreds favoring the county authority, the board approved the idea. So far 10 cities have also approved the concept, although eight of them in a qualified manner.

Campbell councilmen turned down the idea because not enough information was available when it was presented. It is expected that a report on the newest development will be made on Monday.

The council is also expected on Monday to CONGRESS LEADERS --Organizing Campbell's first "Congress for Community Progress" to be held on Monday, Feb. 13, at West Valley College, is largely the responsibility of the group pictured above. They are checking over the answers to the questionnaires which provided the topics that will be discussed by seven panels. Congressman Charles Gubser will be the keynote speaker at Campbell's "Congress".

For W.V. College

City okays new relocatable plan

Emphasizing that it was not a "perfect solution" and that the parking problem can never be solved as long as the college is in its present location, West Valley College and city officials on Monday night hammered out a compromise on the placement of "relocatables" on the Campbell college site.

Based on the plan that had been previously drafted by college and city staff personnel, the Planning Commission approved the issuance of a use permit for 14 additional relocatable classrooms for the college.

All of them will be placed on the Latimer Ave. parking lot.

A new plot plan would be devised which in effect would make the Latimer Ave. frontage the front of the college instead of Campbell Ave.

Parking at the Latimer location then would be restricted to staff, visitors, and special students.

No classrooms, other than the four that are there now will be placed on the Rincon Ave. parking lot, which will allow that lot to be used almost entirely for student parking.

College officials agreed also to emphasize to the student body to use the Rincon Ave. lot for parking instead of cramming the city's residential streets near the college as is presently the case.

Parking on the residential streets has been the basis for many complaints in the past.

Chairman Jack Healey, of the Planning Commission, emphasized that the success of the compromise was based on the college's ability to get the students to park on the Rincon site.

The public hearing by the Planning Commission on the issue Monday night had been continued from a lengthy session two weeks previously when the matter had been first presented.

The original application called for two of the new relocatables to go on Rincon and 12 on Latimer.

By having most of the classrooms on Latimer, it was hoped that the students could park on the Rincon lot and make their first class. One of the complaints of the students has been that with a divided campus they did not have enough time between classes.

As has been the case in all the previous college-city meetings, the question of how long the temporary status of the Campbell campus was to remain was presented by several commissioners.

Both Dr. Wallace Hall, college president, and Dean Gene Arnold, explained that the college board had discussed having a permanent Campbell campus and the college staff was proceeding with a study of possible locations.

One of the conditions levied by the Planning Commission was that a plot plan must be presented to Planning Director Dick Hogan

Drive-in theater seeks annexation to city

"If you can't beat 'em, join 'em", an age-old admonition with modern implications could be the title of a "rerun" on which the curtain at the city hall went up this week. The "drama' involves the long-raging drive-in theater operation.

Representatives of Syufy Enterprises, owners of the nearly-completed drive-in theater located in county territory off Union Ave. and McGlincey Lane, indicated that in order to resolve the current stalemate between the city and the theater, they were willing to be annexed to the City of Campbell.

The stalemate resulted from a court ruling that specified that access roads to a drive-in theater were part of the theater's overall operation.

Although the theater itself is under county jurisdiction at the present time, the accesses are under this city's control, according to the court decision.

Acting under the county's approval, the theater owners have virtually completed their installation. They have black-topped the area, installed the individual electrical outlets, erected a screen and constructed an imposing concession building.

Under the county's zoning ordinances a drive-in theater is permissable in the zoning that is in effect in the county territory (M-1-S).

But Campbell's comparable zoning prohibits such an operation.

Campbell opposed the theater from the very start of the proceedings which began a year ago. Campbell's case was based on the premise that the access roads within the city limits were part of a drive-in theater and thus could not be allowed under this city's ordinance.

Despite this city's vigorous protests, the county authorized the Fire department wins first in state

Campbell's Fire Department, which has consistently ranked high among the nation-wide leaders in the fire prevention contests since 1960, has again been awarded first place honors of all the departments in California.

Last year Campbell won the grand award in the municipal division among all cities in the United States as well as gaining the top state ranking. This year the grand award was won by Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Campbell, however, placed first in its population class (20,000 to 50,000) and 14th among all cities in the nation.

Second place in Campbell's population category went to Pierce County Fire District No. 2, Washington and third to Wausau, Wisc.

Other California winners included Santa Fe Springs which placed second in the 5000 to 20,000 class and Grass Valley which got second in the under 5000 class.

Oakland received honorable mention in the 250,000 to 500,000 group; Santa Ana in the 100,000 to 250,000; Hayward in the 50,000 to 100,000 and Crest Forest in the under 5000.

Similar awards were made to Canadian cities entered. In the United States 260 communities competed and in Canada 258. There is also a military division as well as a government division in the contest.

The fire prevention contest is sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association and the objective is to provide recognition for positive efforts in the field of fire prevention as indicated by the reports and exhibits submitted.

The contest, according to officials of the association, aims to stimulate universal fire safety consciousness and to encourage wider use of modern techniques in both public and private fire prevention efforts. The contest in 1966 marked the 40th year that the competition has been held.

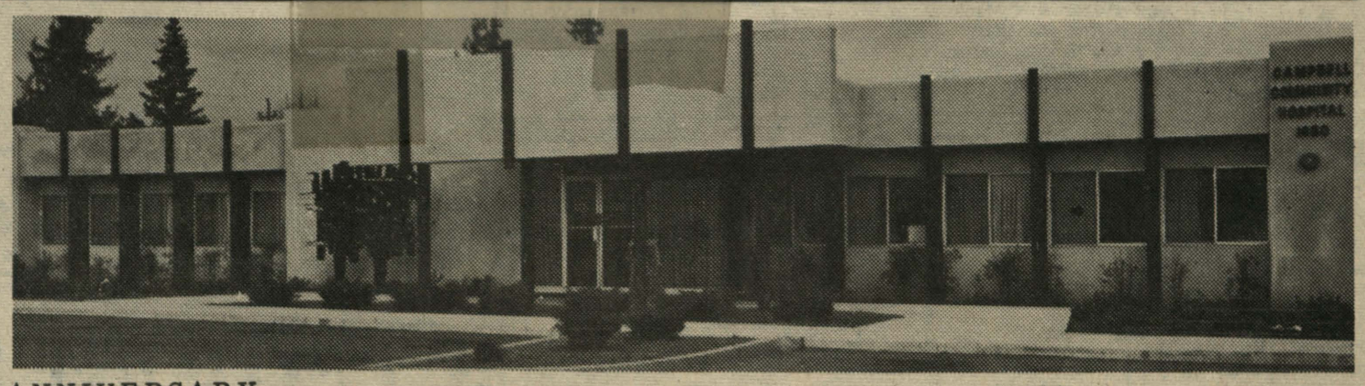
The National Fire Protection Association was formed in 1896 to advance by science and education the protection of lives and property from fire. The organization now has about 21,000 members drawn from industrial, commercial, trade, fire departments, governmental, insurance and other interests. More than 200 national trade and professional organizations are also members.

By winning the grand award for 1965, Campbell won nationwide recognition and was officially commended by the city, county and state for its achievement.

Campbell received honorable mention ratings in the state in 1960 and 1961 and in 1962 took first place in the state, second place in its population class, then 5000 to 20,000, and 12th overall in the nation.

In 1963, Campbell received second place in its class, 19th in the nation and honorable mention in the state. Again in 1964 this city was given honorable mention in the state and nationwide in its class (20,000 to 50,000).

The current honors for 1966 are topped only by last year's (1965) clean sweep.



ANNIVERSARY -- Campbell Community Hospital on Winchester Blvd. near Hamilton is celebrating its fourth anniversary of service to this community. On Saturday, Jan. 21, the hospital is holding open house. The public is invited to visit the facilities of the only hospital within the city limits and gain first hand knowledge of its operation and plans for future expansion.

Editorial

The first real plan

The Campbell Press has attempted to describe verbally and graphically the proposal for the improvement of Campbell Ave. from Winchester to the railroad tracks which has been approved by the City Council.

Tabbed "Proposition No. 2", the approved plan calls for widening of the street to the adopted plan line to allow for four moving traffic lanes.

The City Council in approving the plan also specified that the property owners on the street would be asked to participate in the overall estimated cost of $309,527. The city's share of the cost would be $145,428 and the property owners' $164,099.

Under the plan there would be no street parking between First and Harrison or in the one block on the south side just east of Winchester.

We recognize there will be many who will be upset over this action of the city.

But we commend the City Council and the Downtown Redevelopment Committee for the first time in this city's history taking a firm stand on SOME definite plan for doing something about Campbell Ave.

Attend the Congress

There has been some criticism about the date for Campbell's first "Congress for Community Progress" which is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 13.

Some have asked why the congress was not set for a Saturday or for an evening instead of on a weekday. They felt that more people could attend and participate, if it was not held on a working day.

The answer is that Monday, Feb. 13 is a school holiday because of Lincoln's Birthday falling on Sunday and the facilities of the West Valley College are available for the congress on that day.

Because of the importance of the congress to this community, the feeling is that those who are interested in it will make an effort to attend and that the day of the week is not as important as the results that are expected from this worthwhile project.

It must be also emphasized that an attendance of 400 people is hoped for. In this mobile age in which we live parking facilities for that many people becomes a complicated logistic problem.

Thus the use of the facilities of West Valley College when classes are not in session makes an ideal arrangement.

We believe sincerely that the scheduling of the congress on a so-called working day will not deter interested citizens from attending. For those interested in their community will make a determined effort to attend.

As we have pointed out, the Congress itself will stretch over about a five-hour period.

The crux of the program will be the seven panels, each complete with moderator, two members plus an "expert", that have been set up to discuss and explore various issues of community interest based on the results of the questionnaire that was distributed to the citizens.

Before the panels go into session, however, there will be a joint session of all at which slides of various areas in town will be shown by representatives of PG&E.

After the panel sessions are completed, Congressman Charles Gubser will be the keynote speaker at the luncheon which will be held in the Campbell High cafetorium.

The planning and organization of Campbell's first "Congress for Community Progress" is getting the full cooperation of the city and the Chamber of Commerce.

Larry Hill, high school district superintendent, is general chairman; Dick Hardy, of the C. of C. is co-chairman and Bob Stephens, city manager, is coordinator.

Tremendous cooperation is also being received from PG&E through Tom Ludcke, community development consultant for the utility firm. In other communities where congresses have been held, the assistance of PG&E has been invaluable.

But we must emphasize again and again that despite the fact that the congress is well-planned and organized and between 85 and 100 people are actually involved in the planning and organizing, the success or failure of it will be determined by the number of people who attend and participate.

The seven panel discussion groups have as their topics such vital issues, as, traffic and transportation; industrial and commercial development; youth opportunity; health and welfare; Campbell's improved image; education; and governmental service.

All seven of the areas of discussion are of general interest to all of us. There are some, of course, which people are more concerned about than others, so you can sort of pick and choose at your congress.

It is a wonderful opportunity for those of you who have ideas on these vital subjects to express them.

It is also an excellent chance for those of you who would like to have some of the questions answered that have been bothering you about your own community.

And it will be a great place for all of us to get better informed as to the problems, the goals and the plans of the community.

Again we urge you to register for the congress with the Chamber of Commerce. It is you who have a stake in this community and as a "shareholder" you should know that your interests are in good hands.

So let's see you on Monday, Feb. 13, at West Valley College at Campbell's first "Congress for Community Progress".

BUT WE STRUCK OUT. We just whipped the air, so to speak.

(For the record, John's quote was from Longfellow's "The Builders".)

For our sake, we hope John doesn't get too literary-minded at the installation.

But, if he does, maybe he will give the new C. of C. prexy a chance to get the answers first.

We missed in front of three people.

But, please, John, not before a crowd of 200!

NOW THAT the City Council has approved "Proposition No. 2" for Campbell Ave., which calls for widening to the plan-line and allows for four moving traffic lanes, the chips are really starting to fall, so start ducking.

For the first time in the history of the town there is something tangible for the improvement of Campbell Ave. that we all can get our molars into.

But, as expected, there is plenty of weeping and gnashing of teeth.

In the one block on the south side of Campbell Ave. just east of Winchester, there will be a no parking lane and likewise on both sides of Campbell from First St. to Harrison.

You can imagine how upset some of the people are in those no parking areas.

And we can't blame 'em.

Yet, figure it out yourself.

Unless the buildings are moved back in those specific areas, there just isn't enough room to get four moving traffic lanes and a parking lane also.

To coin a phrase we used to end a previous paragraph:

Sometimes you can't win for losing.

COINAGE of new words and phrases has become routine in these days of governmental ventures into all phases of activity.

It seems that every time a new concept is presented there is a unique descriptive phrase that becomes a part and parcel of it.

Locally, for example, as a case in point, at a recent City Council meeting Dick Hogan, planning director, was describing the park development plan for Los Gatos Creek as presented by the county.

"PASSIVE RECREATION" was the theme for the type of improvements at the park, Dick explained.

HE FURTHER explained that "passive recreation" describes casual or informal recreational facilities, as opposed to organized games on laid-out ball fields and stuff like that.

It seems that "passive recreation" includes such indolent activities as gazing at the landscape, relaxing on the grassy slopes and picnicking.

Our Dorothy claims that we should be a leader in this "passive recreation" setup.

It seems it is one of the best things we do, even at home.

That is, when there is some yard or house work that is waiting.

theater to be built.

Having exhausted all other procedures, the city then took the theater owners to court.

The ruling of the court in effect blocks patrons from attending the auto-movies, despite the fact that the theater is virtually ready to put on the first shows.

The theater owners have further recourse to the courts by appealing the decision of the Superior Court judge.

But their actions this week indicated that they would prefer to resolve the matter, if possible, without further costly litigation both to them and to the city.

City Manager Bob Stephens said this week that he had informed Jack Haigh, of the Syufy Enterprises, that the city would accept their application and begin the regular processing procedure.

How the City Council members will react to this new approach was still undetermined this week as the council has not met since the overtures were made.

Stephens explained that in order to approve the application and allow the nearly-completed drive-in to start showing films, legally, there are four steps involved.

One step is the submission of the application for annexation; another would be that a request is submitted to modify Campbell's zoning ordinance to allow a drive-in theater in that area; still another would be to establish "pre-zoning" at the time the annexation-application to avoid further delays; and the final step would be the issuance of a use permit by the Planning Commission for the operation.

Because the Planning Commission, as well as the City Council, will be involved in the procedures, the commission on Monday asked the council to schedule a joint meeting of the two bodies to discuss the problem.

City officials, although opposing the drive-in theater for more than a year, have long recognized that the construction of the facilities by the theater people has forced the city into a difficult position because the county had approved the original operation.

The theater owners, on the other hand, it has been stated, had been officially notified before any construction began that the city would press its case in court. But this did not deter their activities in that line.

Under complete city control, it also has been argued, the city could levy certain conditions in operation that would not otherwise be possible.

Sign regulations in Campbell concern Planning Commission

Signs, past, present and future, concerned the Planning Commission Monday night. Acting on requests from a sparse but articulate audience, the commission continued the hearing to Feb. 20 on proposed amendments to the sign ordinance that have been under study for months.

But before deferring the sign ordinance talkfest, the commission had spent almost two hours in discussing sign applications that had been presented for approval. (Under the new ordinance, most of the sign approvals would be handled by the Planning Director.)

Of the four sign applications before the commission, two were continued to Feb. 6 because the applicants were not present.

Of the other two, the application for a free-standing pole sign for Triple XXX Root Beer at 1555 Bascom was denied. The applicant explained that a sign was necessary to attract business to their sit-down restaurant.

The commissioners felt the place was adequately signed at present and the possibility of putting a sign on the barrel instead of a pole should be explored.

The application for a sign for the Flair Beauty Supply building at 100 Gilman Ave. fared much better.

Although the subcommittee of the commission, composed of Hal Lee and Frank Klein, as well as Planning Director Dick Hogan, had suggested that the proposed sign be reduced in size, the commission approved the original application for a 4 x 10 sign.

The applicant explained that it was necessary for the sign to be seen from Campbell Ave. and the smaller sign would be worthless.

In deferring action on the long-awaited sign ordinance, the commission acceded the requests of Lowell Grattan, local developer, and Jim Duffield C. of C. manager, to continue the hearing to allow for exploration.

Duffield said that a C. of C. report on the ordinance was being prepared.

In other actions, the commission recommended that the zone be changed on properties on both sides of the freeway on E. Hamilton from M-1-S to C-2-S, except for 640-feet of the southerly portion of the property owned by J. K. O'Neil which was recommended for C-M.

The property is 1280-feet deep.

Thomas Jordan, attorney for the property owner, had requested that the commercial zoning extend off Hamilton to 450-feet in depth.

The commission also approved the zone change application of Robert Dodge for property at 55 N. Harrison from R-2-S to C-3-S. Plans for a spray booth at 261 McGlincey Lane were also approved by the planners.

before any work could start on the relocatables. Bill Higgins, college architect, said that the compromise that had been approved meant a new design was needed and was in the process of being worked out.

Arnold said that the college was pointing toward the issuance of the contract for the relocatables in March with a completion date of August and that any appreciable delay could complicate matters.

In another action involving the college, the application of R. W. Curry for a use permit to allow the residence he owns at 106 N. Third St., to be used for college faculty offices was approved.

Mayor Ralph Doetsch proclaims 'Jaycee Week' Jan. 15-22, in city

Mayor Ralph Doetsch has proclaimed Jan. 15-22, as Jaycee Week in Campbell and asked local organizations to cooperate in the observance. He said the purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing.

The week celebrates the founding of the Jaycees in 1915, when Henry Geissenbier saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter, according to local Jaycee President Bob Dalzell.

The movement spread so fast that in 1920 the U.S. Jr. Chamber of Commerce was formed with 24 cities represented. The Campbell Jaycees were formed in 1964. The name of the national organization was changed from U.S. Jr. Chamber of Commerce to the U.S. Jaycees in 1965 at the national convention of the young men's civic group.

The Jaycees are open to all young men between the ages of 21 and 35 years living in the Campbell area. The Campbell Jaycees meet for dinner on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at Andy's Restaurant in Campbell.

All young men who are interested in the Jaycees are invited to be the guests of the Campbell Jaycees at a dinner meeting. For information call Bob Dalzell at 378-2746 or Don King at 246-1619.

Built on the solid foundation of creating opportunities for leadership training through community betterment projects, the Jaycees today, over 260,000 strong, are active in 6000 communities in the United States. U.S. Jaycees headquarters is located in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Deadline nears

Jim Duffield, Chamber of Commerce manager, this week urged all members who have not yet returned their reservations for the annual C. of C. dinner-dance and installation on Jan. 27 to do so at once.

Only 225 persons can be accommodated at Villa Felice for the affair and Duffield said that more than 100 reservations had been received by Monday of this week.

Friendships renewed by former Campbell classmates

Eleanor Lonardo

A gay holiday party was held during Christmas vacation honoring guitarist Eleanor Lonardo, known in show business as Ellen Kole. The hostess was Marilyn Means, who entertained their former classmates from Campbell High School at her home at 175 Poplar Ave. Eleanor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lonardo of Campbell and is now residing in New York.

She has been entertaining throughout the midwest and east coast at the Holiday Inns for the last two years. She has just completed a nine week engagement in The Bahamas as well as a few appearances at the famous Playboy Clubs along the east coast.

All the girls attending the party were in her graduating class from Campbell High School in 1962. Those present were Mesdames Richard Meyer (Pam Maxwell), George Herman (Carolee Meckler), Gary Eichman (Carol Sabbatini), Ralph Metreyeon (Nancy Carothers), Lance Forsythe (Jeanette Bryd) and the Misses Judy Clarkson, Camille LaMantia, Joanne Peterson, Barbara Walters and Christe Murray.

Campbell girl serving in Paraguay with Peace Corps

JUDITH REMLEY

Judith Remley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Remley, 51 Llewellyn Ave. Campbell, has been named one of the first Peace Corps Volunteers to begin Peace Corps work in Paraguay.

Miss Remley is one of 40 volunteers who left Jan. 4 to work in the 20th Peace Corps country in Latin America in the fields of agricultural extension and university teachings. Land-locked Paraguay has a population of two million people, 70 per cent of whom are engaged in farming or pastorial activities.

During her 12 weeks of training at New Mexico State University, Miss Remley studied Spanish and Guarani, Paraguayan history and culture, U.S. history, work affairs and practice work in all aspects of agricultural extension and home economics.

Judith graduated in the class of 1961 from Campbell High School. She obtained her B.A. degree from San Jose State College in 1966, graduating with Great Distinction. Before volunteering for the Peace Corps she taught for one semester at St. Lucy's Elementary School in Campbell.

Grange plans dinner-dance

Beautiful candlelight ceremonies honoring the seven founders of the Grange opened the regular meeting of Orchard City Grange last Tuesday night.

Lecturer Ted Bohn presented the program about hobbies with Sisters McGrath and Keesling and Brothers Libhard and Martin displaying their handiwork.

Year end reports were read and plans made for a ham dinner which will be open to the public on Saturday, Jan. 21, followed by dancing. The affair will be held at the Grange Hall, 109 N. First St., Campbell. Proceeds from the dinner will be used to purchase a wheelchair for the use of anyone in need.

The Early Settlers of Campbell will be honored again this year with a luncheon on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22. Interested persons not receiving an invitation may contact Carol Bartholomew, 258-2954.

Trailer club plans outing

Plans for an outing in February will be made by members of the Bedouins Travel Club at their meeting on Monday, Jan. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jud in Campbell. All travel trailer and camper owners interested in joining a trailer club are invited to attend this meeting. For more information call 377-5983.

The club recently enjoyed an outing to "The Golden Torch Trailer Park" in Aptos. Members participating were Msrs. and Msdms. Edward Smith, Ivan Graves, Ray Powell, Ralph Gunther and Louis Jud. All members enjoyed horseshoe competition, a pot-luck supper, followed by an evening of cards and dancing.

ANNUAL MEETING

Zion Lutheran Church will hold a pot-luck supper on Sunday, Jan. 22, at 5:30 p.m. This will be followed by the Annual Congregational Meeting at 7 p.m. at which time the annual reports will be made. Three members will be elected to the Church Council at this meeting. Members are urged to attend this important session. A program is planned for the young children during the adult meeting.

Obituaries

VIVIAN HARNESS

Mrs. Vivian Ruth Harness, 44, of 1360 San Tomas Aquino Rd. died this week in a San Jose hospital following surgery. She had lived in the County for 15 years and was active in mental health programs. She was a member of First Methodist Church of Campbell.

Funeral services were held at Campbell with interment in Los Gatos Memorial Park.

Mrs. Harness was the wife of Kenneth Harness, a radio-telephone operator for the San Jose Police Dept. Other survivors are sons Richard Lee John of San Jose and Donald C. Harness, U.S. Navy; daughter Michelle Alice Harness of San Jose.

RONALD OLIVERIA

Requiem Mass was offered from St. Francis Cabrini Church in Cambrian Park for Ronald Ernest Oliveria, 18-year-old Camden High School graduate who was killed in a Highway 17 collision near Santa Cruz last week.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Oliveria of 2947 Benjamin Court, San Jose. He died from injuries suffered when his auto collided with a car driven by Barry F. Whitehead, 49, of Scotts Valley.

Oliveria was born in San Jose. He had been working at the Martin Oil Co. 851 Hamilton Ave. as a service station attendant. In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Steve, Larry and Bobby.

JAMES RICHARD PLUMB

Funeral services were held in Laramie, Wyoming on Saturday for James Richard Plumb, 54, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Plumb of 42 Carlyn Ave., Campbell.

Plumb died unexpectedly of a heart seizure, according to his parents. He had been an assistant in the State Attorney General's Office in Cheyenne, prior to his death. Plumb had served in the U.S. Navy in both World War II and the Korean War. He was a Commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve. He was a graduate of the University of Wyoming.

Survivors in addition to his parents, are his wife, Dr. Margaret Plumb, associate professor of music at Laramie University, a daughter, Margo, 17, and his sister, Mrs. Carol Don of Mesa, Arizona. Funeral services were conducted by the Masonic Consistory.

Birthday parties are fun, ask any ten year old!

FOR ME?--With a table laden with birthday goodies in front of her and balloons hanging above, Sherry Davis, 309 Christopher, prepares to enjoy the fruits of "being ten."

By Sally Howe

In today's affluent society, children's birthday parties are no longer the novelty that they once were.

The enthusiasm of the "invited" and the "honoree", however, has not diminished in the slightest, however.

A case in point was the recent celebration of ten year old Cheryl "Sherry" Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Davis, 309 Christopher.

Sherry, at ten, has had a party almost every year, but Sherry isn't the least bit blase about parties.

She burst in the door of her family's playroom at 3:30 in the afternoon with a "are they here?" and immediately commenced noting those present and their gifts.

Her guests were all classmates and former classmates at Campbell School and all knew each other. Several, in fact, commented on what they had done at prior parties or at each others, with a complete lack of sophistication.

GAMES

The girls, as proper fourth graders, did not act rowdy or silly, but for the most part sat quietly until all had arrived and then lined up for a shuffleboard game. Mrs. Davis, a former Cub Scout Den Mother, introduced the game with a sponge mop and masking tape squares outlined on her kitchen floor. King-sized checkers completed the action. Winners were awarded prizes and then additional prizes were offered to those who hadn't "won" in the competition.

Since the party was to be over by 5 p.m., it moved right along.

Sherry, surrounded by her friends, sat down on the rug and opened gifts and admired cards. Each card and gift was passed around and the oohing and aahing would have done justice to any adult gathering.

To the traditional "Happy Birthday" song, Sherry blew out the ten candles and she and guests enjoyed punch, candy, cake, and ice cream and had barely finished when the first car horn sounded at the front door.

"Thank you for coming" and "I had a good time" and the young ladies were quickly gone.

SIMPLE DECOR

Party cleanup for Mrs. Davis as well as party arrangements had been complete but simple. The table was spread with a paper cloth, matching cups and napkins were added. Paper plates and plastic spoons were used for the cake. An adult friend had supplied balloons engraved "Sherry" and games and prizes were simple. Sherry had hand-delivered the invitations and in most cases, got a reply upon receipt.

Brother Bucky, a sixth grader, and a few of his friends came through and surveyed the scene a couple of times, but apparently weren't too interested in girls' activities and saw no reason for staying.

The girls attending the party had substituted their "party" shoes for their regular school attire, but their clothing was mostly plaid patterns and pleated skirts.

Mrs. Davis said she didn't know how many more years Sherry would continue to enjoy parties, but there was no question but that she enjoyed this one. Mother commemorated the day by snapping color pictures of the cake cutting, the package opening and the entire group.

Birthday parties can be as simple or as elaborate as the parent wishes.

There are theater parties, playland parties, and dinners "out."

Clowns can be hired; caterers can be brought in.

Whatever is the "activity" the children seldom complain or compare, but merely, in their own way, enjoy.

Why not?

GAME TIME--While hostess Sherry Davis sits in the foreground watching, guests Cindy Sanders, 75 Hunt; Jill Montgomery, 45 Hunt; Ann Kelly, 288 Christopher, and Martha Hanks, 162 Cherry Lane, prepare to try their hand at "kitchen shuffleboard." Occasion was Sherry's tenth birthday party.

TWO OUT OF THREE --Here are two of the three cars involved in a rear-end accident Saturday afternoon on Campbell Ave. near Milton. The little MG roadster was caught in the middle. All three cars received front and rear end major damage, and the passengers were treated for minor injuries at Campbell Community Hospital.

Del Mar High among national winners in essay contest

Del Mar Dateline

Valri J. Kizis, daughter of Lt. Col. Clifford E. Kizis (USA-Ret.) and Mrs. Kizis, 1651 Santa Lucia, San Jose, is Del Mar High School's 1967 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Word of her award has been received by Laurance J. Hill, superintendent, Campbell Union High School District, and George F. Miskulin, Del Mar principal.

Seventeen-year-old Valri, a Del Mar senior, won the award by finishing first in a written homemaking knowledge and attitude examination for senior girls, held last month.

She will now participate in possible state and national scholarship competitions, and in any event has already earned a specially designed silver charm from General Mills, sponsor of the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

A State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be selected from all schools in the State, and will receive a $1500 college scholarship. Her school will be given a complete set of Encyclopedia Britannica, and the runner-up will be given a $500 educational grant.

ESSAY CONTEST

Business English students in Mrs. Murle Woodward's classes at Del Mar High School have won national recognition in the annual "ABC's of American Industry" project and essay contest, 1965-66 competition.

Camera kits were won by Judy Nunes, senior essay division, and Janet Onofrio and Colleen Timmerman, senior project entries.

Monetary awards for senior project competition were presented to Maria Munoz, Candy Kubiak, Leslie Schroll and Joyce Russell. Robert Grijalba and Richard Singletary also received checks as essay winners.

Del Mar High School itself also received a monetary award in recognition of the high quality of the entries, Miskulin said.

Mrs. Woodward commented that "through this program, high school students have an opportunity to become better acquainted with America's leading industries and their operations, from raw materials to finished products and marketing.

"This project utilizing library research, essay competition, and report presentation was a valuable learning experience for the students entering the competition."

Principal George Miskulin congratulated the winners and said that "thousands of entries from every state in the union were submitted. We of Del Mar are proud you numbered among the national winners."

GRADUATES--J.A. Courts of Campbell was recently graduated from the California Highway Patrol Academy in Sacramento. While at the academy he underwent 16 weeks of training on 71 different subjects. He has been assigned to duty in the San Jose area.

It was four other schools

John C. Wilbanks, director of Administration Services for the Moreland School District reports last week's article submitted to The Campbell Press was in error insofar as the part concerning the schools receiving four room additions.

The article reported them as Anderson, Coventry, Easterbrook and El Quito Park Schools. Wilbanks states the Moreland School District will add rooms to Latimer, Coventry, Baker and Payne schools in 1967.

Campbell Crier

by DAVE TURNER

All candidates for student body offices presented their qualifications and platforms in speeches to students at an assembly. Judging from the content of the addresses, it appeared the candidates all made a trip to see the Little Old Speech-Maker, as so many office seekers have done in years past.

(The election is Friday, Jan. 20.)

"SOCK HOP"

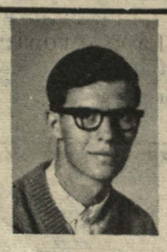
To the Girls' Athletic Association and all people who think they misseda swingin' time in their stocking feet, my humblest apologies. The G.A.A. sponsored Sock Hop was not last Friday, as I stated in last week's column, but a week from this Friday. A live band is being selected for the Jan. 27 fling, so I'll have the name of that group and other details next week.

Campbell sports fans witnessed another rather hapless week as the Soph-Frosh basketball team was again the only victor of the three teams in action. Although the Little Bucs won their battle over Saratoga 62 to 44, the varsity squad followed with a 57 to 44 loss to the Falcons, while earlier in the day the Buccaneer wrestlers went down to a 33-12 defeat on the mats of the Del Mar Dons.

In action this week, Westmont hoopsters visited Campbell's hardwood on Tuesday, but results were not available at press time. Friday night finds the Bucs at Los Gatos, the Soph-Frosh game starting at 7 p.m. and the varsity encounter following immediately thereafter.

On Tuesday Jan. 24, the Bucs will play at Del Mar, the varsity squads meeting first at 3:30 p.m. This weeks wrestling match is a home contest against the Leigh Longhorns. The time for the start of Friday's grappling affair is 3:30 p.m.

Warrior World



by RUSS LONG

A busy week is in store for the Warriors this week, ranging from intricate math problems to cage action.

Opening the week's activities was a basketball game against Campbell. The Warrior five went into the game with a 1-1 league record, with hopes of making it 2-1.

Westmont's third annual Math Contest gets under way this afternoon. Sponsored by the Math Club, the contest is open to all Westmont students, and all those interested are urged to attend. Grand prize for the contest is a ten-inch Pickett slide rule valued at 12 dollars. Other prizes include pocket slide rules and recreational math books.

ELECTION

With the coming of the semester change, a changing of the guard will occur for three seats of the Student Council and Student Body President.

Competing for the presidency are seniors Gretchen Stolle, Hal Herkenhoff, Scott Porter, and Rick Liddell.

Vying for the three council vacancies are juniors Marianne Gregory, Dick Stephenson, Sue O'Hara, Winnie Yabe, and Bill Shanteau.

Elections are this Friday, and results will be published next week.

Stanford Repertory Theater's presentation of John Gay's "The Beggars Opera" will be attended by English department students and faculty members Saturday.

Originally written in 1728, the plot revolves around thieves, beggars and pickpockets instead of the usual courtiers and ladies-in-waiting.

Friday night the Westmont cagers prepare to take on Saratoga there at 7 p.m.

The score of the Westmont-Campbell wrestling match was 35-12, Westmont. The squad met Leigh last Friday, traveled to Walnut Creek for the annual Del Valle Tournament Saturday, and will host the third annual Westmont Invitational Wrestling Tournament this coming Saturday.

BASKETBALL

The Bay Area's current longest league winning streak came to a halt last Friday night as Westmont edged visiting Blackford 70-68.

The loss was the first in 45 games, dating back to 1963, for the Braves in West Valley League competition.

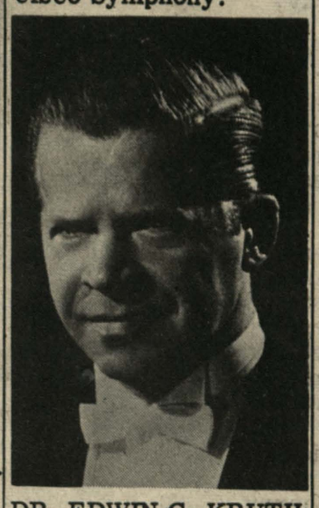
Free throws by Bruce Anderson and Mike Baldinger, the latter coming after a double foul, clinched the win for Westmont in the final two seconds of play.

Leading the Warriors in the final period was high-scoring Roy Grillo, who collected 11 of his 27 points during the final minutes of the game.

SJS College presents concert at Blackford

A concert by the San Francisco State College Symphonic Band, will be presented at Blackford High School cafetorium on Monday evening, Jan. 23, at 8 p.m. This will be the first night concert on the Band's 20th annual tour.

The Band, one of the best college bands in the West, has been acclaimed by music personages such as composer Dimitri Shostokovich; Alfred Frankenstein, music critic, and Maestro Josef Krips, musical director of the San Francisco Symphony.



DR. EDWIN C. KRUTH --conductor

The conductor of the Symphonic Band, Dr. Edwin C. Kruth, received his B.M. and M.M. from the University of Michigan, and his Education Degree from Stanford. He is renowned as a band clinician as well as performer on the clarinet.

Tickets are available for members of the Blackford High School Band, from James Dyer, Director of Bands at Blackford High School, 241-0330. and from Stevens Music Company, 1202 Lincoln Ave., Cy 5-7013. A limited number of tickets will be sold at the door the night of the concert.

Russian taught in adult class

Two classes in Russian language, one for beginners and one for intermediate are being offered for the sixth consecutive year under the Campbell Union High School District's Adult Education Program.

Information may be acquired by visiting Del Mar Adult Center, Monday, Tuesday or Thursday evening 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The instructor is available for interview on Tuesday and Thursday at Del Mar at 6:45 p.m., according to E.P. Stanley, Director of Adult Education, Campbell Union High School District.

Westmont hosts wrestling tournament

The Third Annual Westmont Invitational Wrestling Tournament will be held at Westmont High School in Campbell on Saturday Jan. 21. The preliminaries will start at 9:30 a.m. with bouts being conducted on six mats at the same time. The finals will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Westmont Tournament is one of the many invitational tournaments conducted each season for the high school wrestlers. Competition is held in the 13 weight divisions: 95, 102, 112, 120, 127, 133, 138, 145, 154, 165, 175, 191 and heavyweight.

Medals will be awarded to the first four place winners in each division. There will also be trophies for the first three teams, the outstanding wrestler, the boy who scores the most pins in the least time and the boy who scores the fastest pin.

Usually there are 16 schools competing in this type of event, but this year there will be 22 schools in attendance. The following schools will be in attendance:

Acalanes, Alhambra, Andrew Hill, Blackford, Buchser, Camden, Campbell, Del Mar, Del Valle, Fremont, Hollister, James Lick, Las Lomas, Leigh, Los Altos, Los Gatos, Overfelt, San Mateo, Saratoga, Washington, Westmont, and Wilcox.

Eleven of the 1966 Westmont place winners went on to place in the Northern California Tournament.

The Westmont Tournament has produced nine evential Northern Cal-if. Champions in its brief two year history.

Fremont High School, Champions of the Santa Clara Valley League and the Central Coast in 1966, is the defending champion of the Tournament. Fremont will be the favorite again this year with Acalanes, Andrew Hill, Hollister, Los Altos, and Westmont expected to be near the top.

From the files of The Campbell Press

1 YEAR AGO

West Valley College governing board last week approved working drawings and specifications for 20,000 square feet of relocatable classroom buildings to be needed on its temporary campus site in Campbell at the beginning of the next academic year.

The Campbell Elementary Teachers' Association will present a proposal to the Campbell Union District Board of Trustees that teachers be granted a lunch period free of duty at the next Board meeting on Thursday in the district office.

On Monday night Max Lerner, internationally-known columnist, educator and former editor of The Nation, will deliver a lecture on "Five Revolutions of Our Time", at West Valley College.

5 YEARS AGO

The West Valley's new $200,000 County Court House, a modern architectural classic, will be dedicated Jan. 11, at 2 p.m.

On Saturday at 8:30 p.m. the Temple Emanu-El Sisterhood is planning an entertainment that will include a demonstration of "The Twist", the latest dance craze.

Construction began officially in Campbell last Thursday morning on Breuner's Wayside home furnishings store, the firm's eighth in northern California when ground breaking ceremonies were held on the 8 1/2-acre site on Hamilton Ave. just off the freeway. The firm has taken out a building permit for $850,000, the largest single building permit issued in Campbell's history.

10 YEARS AGO

Despite rumbles of disapproval from many quarters in town, indications were this week that the new Campbell post office would be located on N. Central Ave., near Grant Ave., just north of the new City Hall.

Sam F. Della Maggoire again is chairman of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors by a 4-0 vote of his fellow board members--Supervisor Ed R. Levin withdrew from the voting.

The City of Campbell enjoyed a 140.5 per cent growth in the number of businesses in 1956 over 1946, according to a report released by Dunn and Bradstreet. Listings of businesses in Campbell in 1936 were 69, as opposed to 1956 listings of 166 businesses.

15 YEARS AGO

Construction on Rosemary School, second of Campbell Union School District's building projects, starts next week.

Alma Fanning, Campbell business woman, announced this week that she will definitely not run for a post on the city council in the coming incorporation election.

Senator Richard Nixon has accepted the invitation to be the speaker at a Lincoln Day dinner at the Scottish Rite Temple in San Jose Wednesday night Feb. 13.

Grass Roots

A LESSON FROM LANDSCAPING

Whatever one thinks of the sprawling freeway system in Cali way system in California, its existence points up one thing we can all benefit by--the value of landscaping. Before landscaping, a freeway is all earth cut and chain link fence--hardly an aesthetic sight. And while planting can't transform this into a beautiful city park, it sure helps.

One shrub which has been widely planted along freeway routes is the California Toyon--Photinia arbutifolia, if you like to use the botanical name. This durable native goes by other names, too. Some call it the Catalina Holly, others the California Christmas Berry; but toyon is probably the most widely applied appellation.

Toyon is a rugged shrub with good resistence to drought, an always fresh green look, and, in late fall and winter, a profuse crop of bright red berries.

Considering its wide adaptation in California and its success in freeway plantings, it is surprising we don't see more of it in civic plantings. In fact, our cities and towns could profit greatly by the lesson learned from freeway landscaping. More shrubs like toyon, which are colorful and easy to care for, should be planted around civic buildings and schools.

There are other native shrubs which can be put to good use, too, and not the least useful of these are various members of the Ceanothus family. These so-called "Wild Lilacs" of our foothills are truly aristocratic and beautiful shrubs. The foliage is always glistening green and the blue flowers, which appear anytime from late winter to summer, have a freshness to them which belies the often rugged conditions one finds them growing in.

WILLIAM SPANN

DON STANSFIELD

Local Safeway manager changes to Carmel area

William Spann, who has managed the Winchester Boulevard, Campbell, Safeway Store since it opened in November 1963, has been promoted to Manager of the food firm's larger unit in Carmel, effective Jan. 15, 1967.

Don Stansfield, currently Manager of the Felton, Safeway unit, will replace Spann in Campbell.

Spann was born in Madison, New Jersey, and completed his schooling in Winslow, Washington. Following service in the submarine branch of the Navy during World War II, he entered college in Pennsylvania, taking a liberal arts course. He began his Safeway career as a food clerk in 1948. He was promoted to Produce Department Manager in 1952, and to Assistant Manager in 1955. He was promoted to Store Manager in 1961, serving in that capacity in Berkeley, San Francisco, Hayward, and most recently Campbell. Spann and his wife, Ann, have one son, Bradley.

Stansfield grew up in Redwood City, California, and completed high school in Menlo Park. He attended San Mateo Junior College, prior to joining Safeway in 1955, as a food clerk. He won successive promotions to Produce Department Manager, and to Assistant Store Manager, prior to his appointment as Store Manager in San Francisco, in 1963. He has managed the Felton store since 1964. Stansfield and his wife, Diane, have three children--Larry, Denise and Brent.

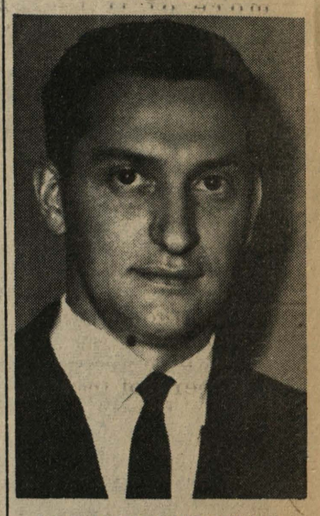
New officers for Campbell Plaza association

AL PLETTE
--president

At a meeting held Thursday evening, Jan. 12, 1967, by the Campbell Plaza Merchants Association, Al Plette, of Plaza Bottle Shop, was elected president, and Arland D. Hatfield, manager of The First National Bank of San Jose, branch office, was elected vice-president. Dick Benneveto, was re-elected as treasurer.



ARLAND HATFIELD
--vice-president

Al Fontana, Campbell Plaza Pharmacy, is the retiring president, and "Bill" Spann, manager of Safeway, retired upon his promotion last week to another area store, as vice-president of the association.

New stores have been added to the Campbell Plaza shopping center and more will be opening, as the construction of interiors of the available spaces are completed. The addition of the south annex has brought into the area, a new T.G.&Y. store, The Plaza Theatre, Deacon Jones Chicken, and a bustling new barber shop.

Members of the Campbell Plaza Association are planning a gala celebration sometime in the near future, when the new addition has had a "breaking-in-period".

Campbell Community Hospital celebrates fourth anniversary

Auxiliary plays star role at hospital

Approximately 40 local women are active members of the Campbell Hospital Auxiliary. They provide those "little extras" that make a patient's stay at Campbell Hospital a pleasant one. The Auxiliary provides a gift cart for visitors and patients. They man the information desk in the hospital lobby. Those members with additional time, make bibs for new babies born at the hospital, and tray favors for special occasions. All of these services, plus their fund raising projects, are volunteer.

Mrs. William Smeed (Beverly) is president of the Auxiliary. Other officers are Mrs. Eric Schramm, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Rose, treasurer, and Mrs. Tom Smith, secretary. The group meets monthly at member's homes and occasionally in the hospital conference room. They are easily identifiable around the hospital, in their attractive turquoise pinafores.

The Auxiliary has several new projects planned, including hospital tours for children. For the past two years they have held a "Christmas Bazaar". Funds raised from this sale of Christmas gift items have helped to pay for the film projector recently presented to the hospital to be used for nurses' training films, etc.

On Saturday they will conduct guided tours of the hospital for visitors who come to celebrate the hospital's fourth year in Campbell. The tours will be held between 12 noon and 4 p.m.

Any woman interested in volunteer hospital work is invited to call Mrs. Eric Schramm, 378-4881.

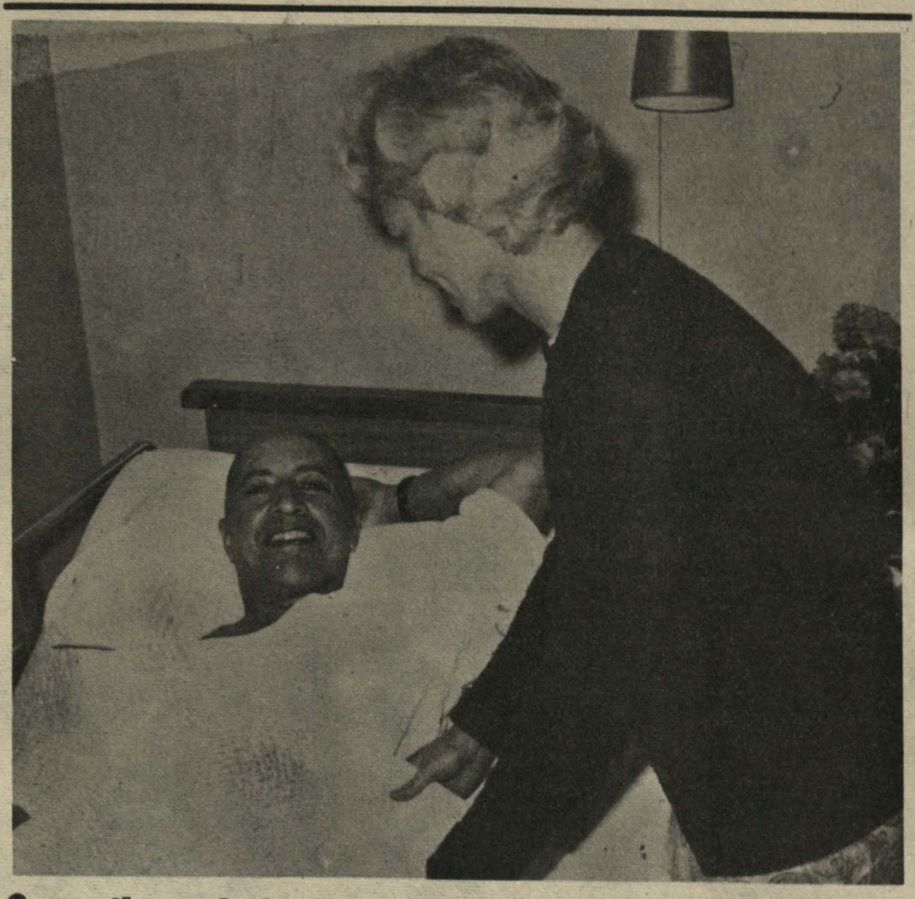
GIFT CART--Campbell Hospital Volunteer Auxiliary worker, Mrs. Rosemary Angell, takes her gift cart filled with books, perfume, candy, and other items, down the hall of Campbell Hospital, where one of the patients, Mrs. Bonnie Barth, makes a purchase. The gift cart is one of several projects of the Campbell Hospital Auxiliary.



Councilman helps "celebrate" hospital anniversary

REAL CIVIC "COOPERATION"--Councilman and former Mayor Charles Rose adds an official city touch to the fourth anniversary celebration of the Campbell Community Hospital. Councilman Rose has been confined as a surgery patient while the hospital was marking its fourth year of service to the community. Aiding Rose is his wife, Helen, a R.N. and also an active member of the hospital's auxiliary.

THANKSGIVING BASKETS--Employees of Campbell Community Hospital collected food for Thanksgiving baskets for needy families in this area as one of their community projects. This project has become an annual event of the CCH Employees Association.

Adult school offers three business courses

Three classes focusing in the field of business and industry will start Jan. 30 in the adult education program of the Campbell Union High School District, at the opening of the spring semester.

A new pre-electronic technician program oriented to the person with some algebra, who wants a general preview of electronics production, will be held twice weekly, Monday and Wednesday at Campbell with sign-up in room 31. John Rankin of Lockheed Corporation will teach the class.

Income tax preparation for the house holder will be a spring 10 week offering with George Kemp, business instructor, as class leader. This class will be held Monday, from 7-10 p.m., starting Jan. 30, with sign-up at the Del Mar Adult Center, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday or Thursday evenings.

"Retailing as a Career" will be a newer style training class to replace the previous merchandising class, with John Hart, local department store merchandiser, as instructor. Sign up for this class will be in room 31, Campbell High School, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday evenings, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. This class will be held on Wednesdays for 10 weeks, from 7-10 p.m., starting Wednesday, Feb. 1. It will include training as a department store clerk, etc.

Bulletins describing local center courses held at Campbell, Camden, Del Mar, Blackford, Leigh or Westmont Adult Centers are available at these centers Monday, Tuesday or Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The general bulletin which will describe approximately 140 courses in Home Economics, English, Science and math, Social Science, Applied Arts, Fine Arts, Business, Civic Courses, Physical Education and Industrial and Technical subjects will be available at the above named centers the last week of the month which will be sign-up week for the spring semester.

Horticulture for the Homeowner, Fabrics and Needlepoint for the home, American Literature, English Review, Spanish for the Traveler, Beginning Russian, Math Review, Psychology, Typing for beginners, Advanced Typing, Beginning Shorthand, ABC Shorthand, Investments, Beginning and Advanced Office Machines, Welding, Blueprint and Slide Rule, Basics of Data Processing, Electronic Production are included in the list of classes which start in the spring, according to E. P. Stanley, director, Campbell adult school, Campbell Union High School District.

Dr Albert Burke to speak Jan. 24 at W. V. College

Dr. Albert Burke, noted scientist, economist, educator, geologist, linguist and expert on world affairs, will speak at West Valley College auditorium on Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

His topic will be "Education for What?" and he will speak under the auspices of the college's Office of Community Services.

Dr. Burke has been acclaimed by the New York Times as "an exciting new voice--provocative, sensible and challenging." His television shows have attracted millions, and his fan mail has averaged 5000 letters per week. In one season, his sponsors mailed out 4000 requested copies of his talks per week.

Dr. Burke has lived in Russia, China, Germany, Czechoslovakia, in Latin America and among the American Indians. He speaks French, German, Russian, Spanish, Italian and Bulgarian fluently, and has studied Hebrew, Arabic and Chinese. He is a former director of graduate studies at Yale University.

In his television and personal appearances, he covers a wide variety of international and domestic issues, including conservation, the importance of natural resources, air polution, racial discrimination, among others.

He uses as his basic philosophy the famous words of Edmund Burke words of Edmund Burke, who, however, is no relation of his: "All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is that enough good men do nothing." He has written a book appropos to this subject: 'Enough Good Men--A Way of Thinking".

Open house takes place this Saturday

Campbell Community Hospital will mark the fourth anniversary of its founding with an "Open House" from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21 at the hospital, located at 1650 Winchester Blvd., just south of Hamilton Ave. in Campbell.

The hospital, according to Elton E. Admire, administrator, is a modern, general care medical facility, currently designed and operated to accommodate 48 patients, with long range plans for expansion to accommodate 120 patients.

During 1966, the Campbell Community Hospital Foundation was formed, to provide a non-profit voluntary organization, with a governing board of seven members, currently headed by Robert W. Brydon, who is also president of the Board of Trustees of West Valley College.

The foundation was created, Admire said, "to provide the community with the best and highest caliber of medical care, and to provide a facility maintained at the highest level for the care and treatment of the physician's patients."

GUIDED TOURS

Visitors to the hospital Saturday will be conducted on guided tours led by the very active Women's Auxiliary, and they will be shown through the emergency care unit, maternity, surgical and x-ray facilities and the up-to-date pharmacy. Guides will emphasize the close coordination between departments of the hospital, with the goal of providing complete, efficient and cheerful patient care.

Campbell Community Hospital is fully accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals.

Organizations with which the Campbell Community Hospital is affiliated include the American Hospital Association, the California Hospital Association, the Association of Western Hospitals, the Northern California Hospital Council and the Central Hospital the Central Coast Hospital Conference. The hospital is licensed by the Department of Public Health of the State of California.

Admire, a former Army officer and experienced hospital administrator, heads up a group of more than 150 employees, with a payroll of over half-million dollars annually.

There are more than 300 doctors on the staff, currently headed by Dr. Wayne O. Buck of San Jose. Mrs. Helen White is Director of Nursing.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY--Mrs. Helen White, director of nurses; David Hargens, chief laboratory technologist and Mrs. Judith DeRoy, operating room supervisor, display the birthday cake cut by employees at the hospital's birthday celebration last year. This same scene will be re-enacted for Campbell Hospital's fourth anniversary this year.

Pacific Telephone to expend $20 million in S. J. area

Pacific Telephone will spend about $20 million in San Jose and its immediate environs for additions and improvements to its facilities during 1967, according to Lee Sicard, local manager.

The largest single item is the $3 million addition to the central office building at 95 Almaden Ave.

The plant service center at the same address will be expanded as part of the addition at a cost of $200,000.

Additionally, Pacific Telephone plans a new wire center to serve the Evergreen area of San Jose at a cost of $420,000, expansion of the information center at 1615 Foxworthy Ave. for an estimated $200,000 and expansion of equipment needs to serve large industrial customers at an estimated cost of $1,700,000. A new business office at Leigh and Hamilton avenues will also be constructed.

Central offices in San Jose, which also serves Campbell, by the end of 1966 serviced 335,600 telephones, a gain of 26,610 over the previous year.

During 1967, Pacific Telephone predicts another 23,775 telephones will be added to the area.

Of the totals, San Jose gained 23,480 telephones during 1966 to bring its total to 290,000. The city's expected gain in 1967 should be 21,000.

Campbell ended the year with 38,100 telephones, a gain of 2714. Another 2300 phones should be added next year.

The company had 3793 employees in San Jose area who drew an annual payroll of $29,146,000 during 1966.

Additionally, the company paid property taxes of $642,878.34 to San Jose, $12,365.50 to Campbell and $794.68 to Saratoga for fiscal 1966-67.

Throughout central California, Pacific Telephone will spend $13.2 million to place more of its facilities underground this year. The construction budget for the 11 central counties will be $92.1 million.

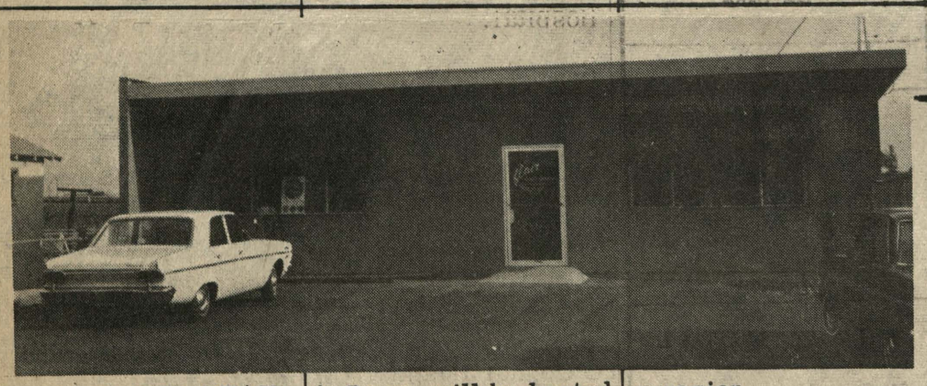
Proprietors, Eric Johnston (Bascom Ave.), and David Allan (Campbell Ave.), reported that their restaurants will be open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to midnight.

STAY IN YOUR CAR!--Jack-in-the-Box Drive-Thru specializes in the rapid service of food which customers order and receive without having to get out of their cars.

According to Johnston and Allan (proprietors of the new restaurants), Jack-in-the-Box sells 50 million hamburgers each year--plus tacos, shrimp, chicken, and other items--in Campbell, San Jose, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Phoenix, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston...a total of 227 in the chain, with a new opening somewhere every four days!



A FLAIR FOR BEAUTY!--A grand and gala opening of the FLAIR BEAUTY SUPPLY, INC. house at 100 S. Gilman Ave. in Campbell, on Sunday, Jan. 22, 1967 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. will be hosted by Sam Eagle and Arnold Horton.

Hairdressers throughout the Santa Clara Valley area will gather to make this a most happy and significant occasion.

Salon equipment and installations, plus nationally known brands of beauty preparations and supplies will be available and on display.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

The opening day of the Ninetieth Congress on Jan. 10 stands out as the most unusual in recent history.

Just two hours before the gavel fell, our highly respected colleague, John Fogarty (D-R.I.) succumbed to a fatal heart attack. Ordinarily, under such circumstances the House meets, hears a prayer and immediately adjourns out of respect for the deceased colleague. But in this instance the Ninetieth Congress had not yet come into existence and could not adjourn until after the required organization formalities. Furthermore, President Johnson had scheduled his State of the Union address to Congress for 9:30 in the evening so as to utilize prime television viewing time across the Nation. So Speaker McCormack decided to go ahead with organization formalities, and to hear the President, but restrict all other discussion.

The limitation imposed by tragedy did not detract from the liveliness of the debate which concerned the seating of Adam Clayton Powell. This debate was conducted under a very clouded, gray area of parliamentary law.

Under established precedents and procedures, the Speaker-elect is first given his oath of office and any challenges to prevent giving the oath to other Members-elect must follow the Speaker's swearing in. Thus, technically, at that particular moment, the entire House of Representatives is composed of one member--the Speaker. At that moment the rules of the House have not been adopted so the Speaker is not only the entire membership--he is also his own rule book.

Had Adam Clayton Powell chosen to do so (and many were sure he would), he could have demanded that every other Member-elect stand aside and be denied the opportunity of taking the oath. This raises the question of who besides the Speaker could vote on the question of whether the entire membership could be seated. As the sole Member of the House at the moment with the power to make his own rules, it would seem that the Speaker alone could do so. House Parliamentarian Lewis Deschler told me afterwards that in his opinion all Members-elect would have been allowed to vote on the question of who should be seated even though they had not been sworn in. Under this interpretation Powell should have been allowed to vote on the question of his own seating. But the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD shows his name was not called.

The muddied parliamentary situation on opening day was in sharp contrast to the clear reaction to Powell's defiant speech to the House and to the content of President Johnson's "State of the Union message". President Johnson's speech, while made with impeccable good taste, was considered by most Members as defiant of the public mood expressed in the November elections. By asking for continuation and expansion of his Great Society program while continuing the war in Vietnam and at the same time blaming his recommended tax increase of 6% solely on our Vietnam involvement, the President missed the public mood almost as widely as Adam Clayton Powell had done earlier in the day.

It was quite an opening day!

appoint Mrs. Margaret Fraker, 665 Hawthorne, to the Parks and Recreation Commission to the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Reba Chappell who had moved to Santa Cruz.

It is also expected that the proposed ordinance controlling bees within the city will be ready for first reading but the ordinance controlling cats will not be.

New P.O rates go into effect

James M. Hurley, Campbell postmaster reminded Campbell citizens that new parcel post rates and a new system for identifying parcel post zones went into effect Jan. 15. Rate increases will average about 10 cents a parcel with a new series of size and weight increased weight increases scheduled for July 1 on packages mailed between first class offices. Campbell is classified as a first class post office.

A simple chart, now available at the local post office will aid in quickly determining the proper Zip Code and also the parcel rate for the package. The new zoning method will also apply to air parcel post, catalogs and to publishers who pay zone rates on the advertising portion of their periodicals. The new rates are expected to help the Post Office Department by providing an additional $74 million a year.

Prefix 374 enters local service

A new telephone number prefix--374--will join those already serving Campbell and the immediately adjoining portion of San Jose, according to Lee Sicard, Pacific Telephone local manager.

The new prefix will become operative Feb. 4.

Sicard said the prefix was added because of the influx of new telephone subscribers to the area and in anticipation of future needs.

Prefixes of 371, 377, 378 and 379 are the current ones in use in Campbell and in the adjoining section of San Jose.

Also, a new Pacific Telephone business office will be constructed in the area this year at Leigh and Hamilton avenues.
